Pure majors, at IILM's Department of Liberal Arts, are specialised academic programmes dedicated to the in-depth study of a single discipline. These majors provide students with a comprehensive understanding of their chosen field and open up a multitude of career opportunities aligned with their expertise. We also offer multidisciplinary majors as educational programmes that encourage students to explore and integrate knowledge from multiple academic disciplines. Rather than focusing exclusively on one field of study, multidisciplinary majors allow students to bridge the gap between different subjects, creating a holistic and multifaceted understanding of complex issues.

For example, a Journalism major who incorporates psychology can understand audience behaviour better and a political science student gains insight into economic and financial policy making. The versatility of multidisciplinary learning encourages adaptability and innovation, aligning graduates with industry needs and equipping them to navigate diverse professional landscapes effectively.
