

IILM University Achievers

It is the dream of each individual to obtain the highest possible achievement in academics.

When we think about student support, we typically think about extra attention paid to struggling students. While it’s obviously important to spend time helping struggling students succeed, it is equally important to make sure you recognize your high achieving students. By showing them that their hard work isn’t going unnoticed, you can help keep their motivation high to keep showing up.

Even if it’s small, anything to reward or recognize students’ achievements is going to keep their spirits and performance high

Actions to recognize high achieving students will not only positively reinforce their hard work, but it also motivates the students with less than perfect records to put in that extra effort if they want to earn the same recognition.

Here are a few ways in which IILM university recognizes its top performers.

- 1. Public Recognitions: Displaying the names of the students on university Notice Boards and University Website.
- 2. Award Ceremonies: Students get recognized in front of their peers and even receive a certificate for their exemplary records

IILM university recognizes the achievements of its students in area of Co curricular activities, Sports , Higher Education and as Young Entrepreneurs.
